CHAMP CLARK CHOSEN.

Democrats Name Him as Their Choice For Speaker.

HENRY HEAD OF CAUCUS.

Clayton of Alabama Selected to Present the Name of the Party's Choice For the Highest Office in the House.
Robinson Secretary.

Washington, March 15.—When the Democratic caucus met at 10 o'clock Monday, members of the Georgia delegation, who had prepared a set of resolutions proposing to bind the Republican insurgents to vote against Cannon for speaker, in favor of free debate and unrestricted amendment to the tariff bill and to favor adoption of a new set of rules, offered a resolution proposing that each and every Democratic member of the house present at the caucus be bound by its action.

Representative Henry of Texas presided during the selection of officers, which resulted in the re-election of Representative Clayton of Alabama as chairman to nominate a clerk for speaker of the house. Representative Robinson of Arkansas was elected secretary.

Representative Underwood of Alabama was recognized by the chairman to present a resolution which pledged the members to support the Democratic leader "in his efforts to overthrow the present arbitrary rules of the house and adopt rules that would be the majority of representative in congress to legislate to accomplish that end we favor the enlargement of the number of members on the rules committee to fifteen, to be elected by members of the house, and we favor a thorough and complete revision of the rules of the house." The resolution also declared "we denounce the present rules of the house of representatives as a machine intended to thwart and destroy the representative character of the house and enable the speaker of the house to absolutely control legislation regardless of the will of the majority."

Mr. Clark made a brief address thanking the members of the party for their action. The Underwood resolution was adopted.

CANNON FOR SENATOR.

Gossip Has It He Can Be the Successor of Hopkins.

Washington, March 15.—Gossip at the capital for the past few days has been to the effect that Speaker Cannon can secure the nomination for United States senator from Illinois if he desires it. According to the rumor, the deadlock over the selection of a senator from that state is due indirectly to the fight on the part of the "insurgents" in the house and those opposed to Mr. Cannon for the speakership. It had been said that Mr. Cannon would not accept the speakership if the present rules were changed, but the understanding had been that in that event Mr. Cannon would take his seat on the floor of the house.

Six Aeroplanes Ordered.

London, March 15.—The Wright brothers have placed an order with a London firm for the construction of six aeroplanes.

KENNEDY RESIGNS.

Marshall of Grayson County Is Chosen Speaker.

Austin, March 15.—When the house met Monday afternoon A. M. Kennedy tendered his resignation as speaker in a brief speech, in which he said that in compliance with the wishes of a majority of the house he returned the gavel unsullied and untarnished.

Mr. Kennedy then called Chief Clerk Barker to preside pending the selection of a new speaker.

Representative John Marshall of Grayson county was placed in nomination and unanimously elected.

HOW VOTE STOOD.

Cannon Received Total of Two Hundred and Four.

Washington, March 15.—Hon. Joseph Cannon was elected speaker of the house of representatives of the Sixty-first congress, receiving 204 votes. Champ Clark, Missouri, 166; Cooper, Wisconsin, 8; Esch, Wisconsin, 1; Norris, Nebraska, 2; Hepburn, Iowa, 1.

Senator Hale, chairman of the Republican caucus of the senate, announced the following as the membership of the Republican committee to select standing committees of that party: Aldrich, chairman; Kean, Mc-Comber, Crane, Flint, Sutherland, Curtis, Borah and Dixon. The committee immediately proceeded to reorganize committees.

When Clerk McDowell called the house to order scarcely a seat was vacant on the floor, while the galleries were packed to the doors. For the first time Mrs. Taft occupied a seat.
Following the innovation and reading of the proclamation of President Taft, there was a roll call by states to ascertain the presence of a quorum.

The senate was called to order by Vice President Sherman. Sixty-six senators answered to their names. Announcements were made of the illness of Senators Bacon and Clay of Georgia, McLaurin of Mississippi, Culbertson of Texas and Tillman of South Carolina.

The galleries were filled with visitors. The Republican side had full representation present, while but fifteen Democrats were in their seats.

Over a Mile Wide.

Selma, Ala., March 15.—Alabama river is now a mile wide here.

SPIRITED AWAY.

Illinois Sheriff Executes a Coup and Secures E. A. Hill.

Muskogee, Okla., March 15.—Sheriff Sylvester Hanson of Murphysboro, Ill., armed with requisition papers from Governor Haskell, loaded E. A. Hill into a buggy and spirited him out of the county before habeas corpus papers could be issued. Securely handcuffed, Hill was taken to Wybark, a small station just outside the county, and put on a Katy train. This coup was pulled off after Hanson had spent weeks here when Hill was fighting requisition.

The prisoner is wanted in Illinois on a charge of conducting a land swindle by selling lots at Nowata, Okla.
representing, it is alleged, that a large sanitarium was there and doing a big business. The Illinois citizens visited the town and declare they found Hill has sold them lots on misrepresentation.

After Hill had been spirited away his attorneys had issued a warrant for the arrest of the Illinois sheriff. It was returned marked, "Not found."

EXPIRES IN CHURCH.

"One of You Can Tell at What Hour Death Will Come."

Youngstown, O., March 15.—"One of you can tell at what hour death will come," said the pastor of the Presbyterian church at Poland, near here, in opening his sermon.

Hardly had he spoken the words when Mrs. Matilda Williams fell from her seat dead.

Death is said to have been caused by heart disease.

Whiskey Expert No More.

Lexington, Ky., March 15.—Patrick Lamphear, one the most widely known Bourbon whiskey men in America, died here. His skill in determining the quality of whiskey and the large salary paid him gained for him the sobriquet "the man with the golden nose."

Bishop Hoss Much Better.

Baltimore, March 15.—Physicians at the Johns Hopkins hospital pronounce Bishop Hoss much better.

Eleven Prisoners Escape.

Fort Worth, March 15.—Eleven prisoners escaped from the city jail by digging a hole through the ceiling.
Fourteen others who remained behind were released by the court for refusing to break jail.

"HELL."

Dr. T. H. Morris Delivered Stirring Sermon at Methodist Church Sunday Night on Hell.

Dr. Morris, pastor of the First Methodist church, announced "Hell" as the subject for his Sunday night discourse and notwithstanding the very cold night, quite a large congregation was present to hear him.

Dr. Morris chose for his text the 23rd verse of the 16th chapter of Luke: "And in hell he lifted up his eyes, being in torments, and seeth Abraham afar off and Lazarus in his bosom."

He laid down the proposition that there is a hell, a place of punishment for the finally impenitent. He said he knew the word hell was not a polite word for the modern sinner, but no man preached the full gospel who withheld any part of it.

Hell was a place of intense suffering, of darkness, of wailing and gnashing of teeth. It had been likened unto fire—a lake of fire and brimstone.
Hell was not only a place, but a state.
Men and women get to the place where they love sin and hate righteousness, and the shouts of joy and praise that will come from within the pearly gates will be their greatest misery.

He had been asked if he believed hell was a lake of burning fire. He did not know, but was sure it typified a place of great suffering. There could be no comfort drawn from the argument that the burning lake was only a figure, because if it were, then the reality was so terrible that nothing else could represent it, and that which it typifies cannot be less than the figure.

For whom was hell prepared? The scriptures say "for the devil and his angels," but if God spared not His own, the angels who rebelled, then how can we hope to escape if we rebel.

Hell is prepared for them whose names are not written in the book.
And the reason that the names of any are not in the book, is of their own choosing. Men and women stand at the parting of the ways and of their own choice deliberately walk down to eternal death.

The closing thought was how long shall hell endure, and the description of eternity, its boundlessness, its vastness when considered by the finite mind, was touchingly beautiful and grand, and deeply moved all who were present.

ment of Animal Husbandry of the

Elegant Window Display.

A. J. Wagner & Co's. show windows have been rearranged with an elegant display of Spring's prettiest offerings, and are temptingly beautiful.

No dry goods house in the state can boast of a more elegant variety of attraction and seasonable goods, and the artistic arrangement is perfect.
Mr. Roland Walker, the expert dry goods man and window dresser for A. J. Wagner & Co., is the artist whose skill has converted the window and also the interior of the store into such a scene of loveliness.

The blending of colors and the combination of rich materials is harmonious and inviting, and the beautiful quality of the material used is plainly evident and adds an interesting charm to the window. The figures are becomingly dressed in ready-made messaline suits with pretty stylish hats—for which Wagner & Co. are famous—to match. Elegant silks in lavender—old rose, green, pink and champagne shades are shown, and with every shade is to be seen the dainty hose, gloves, ribbons, and even the richly embroidered belts in the same color, to complete the elegant toilette.

Ready to wear net waists, and the quaintly tucked muslins, which are strictly a mark of this season, are on display, and there is also the tucked nets in ecru, white, and dainty colors to be made into waists and evening dresses. All these petty accessories are admired mostly by the ladies, but the men have not been forgotten, for a whole big window is devoted exclusively to a display of the "correct" styles for men and boys.

Spring suits in beautiful weaves and strictly tailored cuts, fancy vests, ties, hats, shoes and collars are artisically arranged, and are commanding quite a deal of attention. A. J. Wagner & Co's. windows are equal to any to be seen in the big cities and are indeed a credit to Bryan.

State Health Officer Brumby Has Ac-justed the Matter.

Austin, March 15.—State Health Officer Brumby has returned from Falfurrias, where he straightened out the smallpox quarantine muddle. He said the county health officer of Starr county, in which Falfurrias is situated, had quarantined the entire town instead of merely quarantining the cases of smallpox. He ordered the quarantine raised and will have the patients with the disease quarantined.

The action of the county health officer caused telegrams to pour into the health department from railroads and persons all over that section.

Upheaval Will Result.

BRYAN, TEXAS, MARCH 16, 1909.

THE CHRONICLE IS MISTAKEN.

In the editorial department of the Houston Chronicle of last Sunday this paragraph appeared:

"The Texas Farmers' Congress, representing the allied farm, orchard and garden interests of this state, at its last annual meeting urged the appointment of a majority of practical farmers on the board of trustees of the state Agricultural and Mechanical college. Governor Campbell saw fit to make appointments of another character. The College still closes its courses against youths who do not possess a certain amount of classical book learning to begin with. It still insists upon their spending years in adding to such learning, no matter if their own judgement leads them to prefer to spend their whole school time on studies that will make them more successful farmers and stock raisers and orchardists. But there will be other governors, and in time the state farm college may be shaped up to suit the farmers."

As the Eagle has heretofore said, the request of the Farmers' Congress is reasonable and it is a matter of regret to many friends of the college that the governor has ignored it. There is no just ground of complaint, however, that the present board of directors has not conducted the institution wisely and in pursuance of the objects for which it was established.

But it is not true, as the Chronicle asserts, that "the college still closes its courses against youths who do not possess a certain amount of classical book learning" is required as a condition of entering any of the three courses in agriculture, horticulture, and animal husbandry. If the editor of the Chronicle will refer to the last annual catalogue (if he has not preserved the copy sent him he can get another on application) he will find what the requirements are. The only one of the three courses in agriculture for which a standard of attainments in studies is prescribed is the full four-year course. The examination for this course includes: Algebra to quadratics; English grammar, and composition, history of the United States; and an outline of general history. Will anybody claim that there is any "classical book learning" in this? And even this examination, simple as it is, may be dispensed with at the discretion of the president.

Nor is it true that in any of the courses in agriculture the college "still insists upon their spending years in adding to such learning." The four-year course in agriculture includes nothing that can properly be called "classical book knowledge." On the contrary, everything, with one unimportant exception, is of direct practical value to the farmer, the horticulturist and the stock-raiser. The single exception is that the student is required to learn enough of military science to enable him to understand the drill regulations which are maintained for the sake of discipline, and this requires very little of his time.

For the benefit of those who "prefer to spend their whole school time on studies that will make them more successful farmers and stock-raisers and orchardists"—in other words, for the sake of those who lack the time, the means or the inclination to take the full course in scientific agriculture, a two-years course is provided, for which there is no entrance examination whatever. A glance over page 48 of the catalogue will convince anyone who is willing to do the college justice that this short course includes nothing that is not absolutely essential to one who makes any pretension to being an educated farmer, gardener or stock-raiser.

But this is not all. The directors and faculty have perfected plans for holding a Summer school for Farmers, in connection with a Summer Normal School, the announcement of which has just been printed and is now ready for distribution. The Summer school for farmers embraces short courses in agriculture, horticulture and animal husbandry, so arranged that related subjects may be completed within two weeks. The college buildings, apparatus, experiment station, farm, orchards, gardens and live stock of all kinds will be used to illustrate the instruction given in these courses and the expense of maintenance is reduced to the lowest possible minimum.

These facts demonstrate that the Chronicle has misstated the case and that its strictures are unjust. If it wishes to be fair it will retract and apologize for its unfounded aspersion of the most useful institution of learning in this state. But there is reason to suspect that the Chronicle has been nursing a grudge against the board of directors of the A. and M. College ever since they failed to elect its candidate, Professor Horn of Houston, to the presidency of the college, instead of choosing Honorable R. T. Milner, the present able incumbent.

Eight Million Dollars For Two Years Asked.

Austin, March 8.—Senate adopts a resolution to hold sessions every night this week to consider local bills.

Senator Senter had adopted a resolution accepting the letter of Mr. Barnett Gibbs of Dallas of a portrait of the late Lieutenant Governor Gibbs, to be placed in the senate chamber.

The senate refused to concur in the house amendments to the full crew bill and Coffey, Meachum, Brachfield and Mayfield were appointed conferees on the part of the senate.

On motion of Murray the senate adopted a resolution that the chair recognize each senator in turn, beginning on the left side of the senate chamber, and unless there be objections each senator will have the right to call up for passage any bill he may have.

Governor Campbell was on the floor of the senate Monday and had a conference with Lieutenant Governor Davidson and Senator Willacy concerning the status of the joint resolutions validating school bonds, declared invalid by the supreme court and changing the form of organizing school districts. The governor urged upon the other two gentlemen the urgent necessity for the passage of these measures, still pending in the senate.

Senator Willacy, chairman of the senate finance committee, stated the senate and house general appropriation bills are ready, except a few minor items, and that they will come up in regular session.

Senator Willacy said that for the first time in the history of the legislature the house and senate bills carry the same amount, which is a little over $8,000,000 for two years, and the first time also that these bills have been ready within sixty days.

The senate concurred in the house amendments to the senate bill requiring railroads to name stations after postoffice names.

It adopted the free conference committee report on the bill making it a criminal offense for a person to send anonymous letters through the mail reflecting upon the character of persons, the committee is sticking out the house amendments.

The senate passed finally, the senate bill requiring a railroad engineer to have had three years' experience as a fireman, and train conductors to have two years' experience as brakemen before assuming the duties of engineer or conductors.

It also passed finally the Hudspeth mining prospector's bill, permitting persons to prospect, making the law more liberal on the subject.

Senator Kellie introduced a bill authorizing the governor to investigate the claim of $184,000 said to be due the state by the federal government for protection of frontier from Indian depredations.

Senator Willacy introduced a bill amending the corporation laws so as to permit a corporation to have twenty-one directors.

Montreal to Boom Athletics.

Members of the Montreal A. A. A. of Montreal, Canada, intend making a determined attempt to boom athletics, erect a new clubhouse and to participate in international sports. At a recent meeting of the directors the advisability of erecting a palatial $50,000 clubhouse was discussed, and the project met with great favor. No definite action was taken on the question, but it is understood that the matter will be settled shortly. It is planned to create practically a new organization along the old lines.

New Record For Ice Pacing.

A new mark for a paced mile on ice was set by The Eel in an exhibition at the Ottawa (Canada) race meet recently. The horse was started for the purpose of breaking the world's ice record of 2:14½, made at Toronto two years ago. The day was still and mild and the track in perfect condition. Three seconds were clipped off the old record, as six official watches caught the time as 2:11½. The quarter was made in 32 seconds, the half in 1:05½ and the three-quarters in 1:39.

Phil May's Drawings.

The late Phil May was popularly supposed to be the "lightning artist" par excellence of England. It is quite true that he could draw many wonderful things "straight off." But when a subject had been chosen for a Punch illustration many drawings were made from a model or models who first had to be discovered. By a process of selection each drawing of the subject bore fewer lines. When the drawing was published most of those who looked at it thought that it had been done with a few rapid strokes of the pen, whereas it probably represented a week's hard work.—London News.

The SPORTING WORLD

Career of Slosson.

Nobody in the realm of sport has had a busier or more eventful career than George Slosson, who recently defeated George Sutton for the 18.1 billiard championship. He has been champion at 18.1 balk line, at 18.2 balk line, at cushion caroms and at the obsolete champion's game in which the corners were marked off with diagonal lines.

His first public match was in 1870 in Springfield, Mass., at the old four ball game. As a youth he once came in contact with Michael Phelan, an antebellum champion. Slosson has gone right through the evolution of the game up to its present point of scientific development and kept pace with it all the time.

Slosson is what is known as a forearm player, manipulating his stroke rigidly from the elbow down and with a stiff wrist. He hasn't the ease and elasticity of some players, but he is an incessant worker, determined and a thorough master of every fine point in billiards. He is not the close player that Sutton and Schaefer are, but as an executor, general and all around performer has no superior.

FRIEND O' THE FAMILY

"Well, sir," said the shoemaker shortly after the sunfish quit biting. "I got a letter yesterday that done me a lot of good. You remember I told you the last time we was out fishin' together that I used to have a shop of my own up in old Illinois an' made good money too. Well, sir, all the kids in that town knowed me, an' they wasn't a one of 'em that wouldn't have gone to the bad place fer me if they'd been old enough to know what that really meant. But they wasn't—bless their little hearts!"

"An' there was two of 'em in particular, the nicest little kids you ever seen. It's a fact that there little girl'd come from school every day leadin' her little brother by the hand. An' they'd never be a time they'd be passin' the shop on their way to school or goin' home to dinner that they wouldn't stop an' knock on the shop window."

"An' often after school'd be out they'd stop in an' see me. Why, I've had as high as ten or twelve of 'em at one time after school in my shop singin' the shoemaker song an' goin' through the motions just like their teacher'd learn 'em to."

"Sometimes some of 'em would have to stop an' laugh—they thought it was such a good joke on the shoemaker. But there'd always be two or three of 'em would go on an' finish out, 'cause they knowed they'd never get the dimer candy if they didn't. An' there's where I used to have the joke on 'em. They never knowed how much I liked to hear 'em sing that there song. I'd sooner hear it now than have a dollar."

"Well, that's just the way it was all the time with 'em kids. They all knowed me, an' they all knowed my dog. An' when they knowed my dog they knowed a mighty good dog."

"Well, sir, this little girl's daddy used to be station agent there at that town, an' it was known all along that part of the Big Four line that there wasn't a depot anywhere that was what you could call as model a depot as his. Course I knowed him, an' he knowed me, an' his wife she used to tell the little girl when they'd want me to come an' take dinner or supper with 'em. It wasn't very often I'd go, but I couldn't refuse when they'd send the little girl after me."

"Now, him keepin' his depot so model is what got him promoted. The Big Four sent him over to a bigger town in Indiana. Course I was glad to see him doin' better—he deserved it. But after they'd gone me an' my dog we used to shut up shop an' go fishin' an' huntin' a little oftener than before."

"Well, come along Christmas time an' what'd I do but one day get a letter from this here little girl tellin' me her an' her little brother was goin' to have a Christmas tree an' couldn't I come over to Indiana an' see 'em Christmas."

"So I made all arrangements to go, an' you bet I laid out a dollar or two fer presents. But course, like I had to be, one day I gets word her an' her little brother was took down sick—diphtheria, the dispatch said."

"So I makes up my mind I'd go any way. There's no tellin', you know, what's liable to happen in a case like that. So I put $100 in my pocket—an' even at that I didn't have to put it there; I always carried at least a hundred in them days—an' I went over. An' I didn't get there none too soon neither. She died the afternoon of the evenin' I got there."

"Well, I didn't know then what to do. I wasn't what you could call a friend o' the family, but I wished I could do somethin' fer that poor little girl a-layin' there. An' before three days was out I got my chance."

"You see, her dyin' of diphtheria, they wouldn't let 'em ship the body back over the railroad. Her daddy bein' agent didn't help 'em none in that case, neither. He tried hard enough to get a permit, but it didn't do no good. He just couldn't get it."

"The mother was just about crazy to think they'd have to lay her away in Indiana instead of the old buryin' ground over in old Illinois alongside of 'em that had gone before. But you bet yer life they didn't have to, fer I went an' got a team an' a wagon, an' I says, 'I'll drive her through.'"

"It was 12 below zero when I started, a little before midnight. They took the mornin' train next day an' got there long ahead of me. Ninety-one miles in a spring wagon at 12 below ain't no picnic."

"I didn't get to see 'em after the funeral. I felt just a little bit wore out, an' I thought the best thing I could do was to go lay down awhile. An', leave me tell you, I got all the layin' down I wanted in the next year an' a half, an' it cost me everything I had but my tools an' shoemaker's kit. I've got that stored up there in old Illinois yet."

"I wrote to her folks one time, but I didn't get no reply. I thought maybe they thought I wasn't quite as good as they was, so I never tried writin' no more."

"This here letter I got the other day was from a friend o' the family that knowed them an' knowed me. It said they hadn't never heard a line from me an' they often wondered what had become of me. It said that little girl's mother often wished she knowed where I was at, so she could write, because, this letter went on to say, she said I was the best friend o' the family they ever had."

"An' that's the kind of letter that makes a feller feel good."—St. Louis Republic.

Three Drown.

Selma, Ala., March 15.—The Alabama river is overflowing the lowlands here and in vicinity. The home of a negro family near Selma was swept away and the husband, wife and a child drowned.

He Knew English.

Book learning, strictly speaking—that is, learning solely from books—leads one into many a hole. In "The Balkan Trail" Frederick Moore tells the story of an Italian official of the Ottoman bank who had taught himself English and was entranced at the chance to practice it on English people.

It was with much pride that he addressed us at supper, but we did not recognize the language he spoke and expressed in French our unfortunate ignorance of foreign tongues.

"That is your own tongue," said the Italian, but even of this statement we understood not a word.

He drew a pencil from his pocket and on the back of a letter wrote:

"I am speaking English."

We were astounded. "Perhaps I do not pronounce correctly," he wrote next. "I have learned the noble language from books."

The hilarious Englishman in our party gave the unhappy Italian his first real lesson at once. He took the pencil and wrote:

"Always pronounce English as it is not spelt. Spelt as it is not pronounced."

Judge Dallas Resigns.

Philadelphia, March 15.—Judge George Dallas of the United States Circuit court for the Third judicial circuit sent his resignation to President Taft. Under the law he is eligible to retire, but the announcement of his resignation was unexpected.

NEVEROUS PROSTRATION.

Indigestion Causes it—MI-O-NA Will Cure it.

If you have indigestion, you don't get all the nutriment out of your food that you should.

Your worn out stomach passes the food on without extracting enough nutritious substance to supply the blood and nerves.

And if the nerves are not supplied with nourishment, they begin to rebel. They kick up a great disturbance. They make you irritable and cranky, you worry about trifles, and you cannot sleep soundly at night, you have bad dreams, and you get up tired in the morning.

Try MI-O-NA tablets, the money-back cure. MI-O-NA will cure your nervousness by driving out the cause. MI-O-NA will give you relief the first hour. It will cure acute cases in a few days, and chronic cases in a few weeks.

Belching, gas, heartburn, sour taste of food, waterbrash, foul breath and other dyspeptic symptoms vanish before the mighty power of MI-O-NA.

Try MI-O-NA. E. J. Jenkins sells it, and will refund the money if it doesn't cure, and only 50 cents a large box.
